CREATING SPACE

A LACTATION ACCOMMODATION PROJECT AT UCLA

CERTIFIED LACTATION EDUCATORS AT UCLA

Creating Space is a collaborative project that aims to provide support for breastfeeding mothers at UCLA by improving lactation education, accommodation, and administration.

We are excited to announce that beginning this quarter, lactation education and counseling services will be available through ASHE Student Health and Wellness Center, Bruin Resource Center, and Student Health Education & Promotion. The Creating Spaces team is hard at work preparing to roll out the lactation education and counseling services. Stay tuned for more developments!
